ARTIST SERIES

For some years now, the droopy eyes and twisted moustaches of Yok's black-lined characters have been staring aimlessly from Australian alleyways, zines and gallery walls. Yok has exhibited in group shows in Tokyo, New York, Berlin, Singapore, Bangkok, Hong Kong and Taipei. He also edits the independent art periodical King Brown.

Photographer and writer, Isaac McKay-Randozzi has contributed to a variety of publications like COLOR Magazine, The Skateboard Mag., SLAP (print and web), Hamburg Eyes photo mag., using cameras that are older than he is. Unrestricted in content, his focus is on life with a heavy lean to documenting skating and all that goes into it. Lately he has been carousing with unsavory elements bent on skating curbs and cutting the heads off of parking meters. SPB
